Anxious little faces peered out at the windows and little noses flattened themselves against the glass in every house in Victoria yesterday morning where there were children. Little faces seemed anxious and troubled at the outlook, for it surely seemed as if it were going to rain. But what a shame it would have been to spoil sport on Children's day! Old Probs, however, had a kindly feeling for the young ones, and by and by up came a wind that shoved the ugly clouds clear out of sight. Then the sun shone his brightest and oh! what a relief it was to hundreds of children when they realized that their procession, with the singing and sports to follow, was surely to take place. It was not only the children who were happy, for parents and, indeed, everyone who loves children (and who does not?), were quite as pleased at the lovely day. Early in the forenoon the streets seemed alive with youngsters, most of them on their way to the Central school, not for lessons, however, but to take their places in the big procession of school children who were to march from there to the exhibition grounds and take part in the exercises of the day. Then all morning little toddlers, too small to take part in the parade, began to pour in at the exhibition gates with their mothers and big sisters, all intent on having a real good time. How they did enjoy themselves! Chattering and laughing in the greatest glee, running races, or looking with big round eyes at the many pretty things to be seen, boys and girls just were having an amount of fun and entertainment. Aunt Sally proved a big attraction to the boys, who squandered their nickels recklessly in that engaging pastime dear to the juvenile heart. Talk about success! Why the Children's day was away ahead of anticipations. The singing by the children was a splendid feature, and the attendance made the hearts of the directors rejoice. In the afternoon a big excursion from Wellington headed by the fine brass band of that place arrived on the grounds and helped to swell the attendance. This band played in the building during the afternoon, the B.C.B.G.A. band playing in the driving park. "If the weather during the other days had only been like this," people kept saying, "what a tremendous gate the association would have taken in!"

THE CHILDREN'S PARADE.

Over Two Thousand Strong They Invade the Exhibition and Capture the Fair—The Chorus Singing.

The Central school grounds were fairly alive with young ones by noon, gathered there to form the grand procession to the exhibition. What a scene of excitement it was! Good natured teachers had their hands full getting the parade marshalled. There was a real band too just like the big people had for their procession. This was the band of the B.C.B.G.A. in uniform, who were to furnish the marching music on the way to the grounds. However, everything was ready at last, and off marched the procession led by the band playing a lively air.

Nearly two thousand children were in line as they marched up Fort street, two and two, marshalled by their teachers, marking time to the music. Small boys, big boys, in all their varied assortments, little girls and young ladies almost grown up—all were there.

But what is this coming up the street in the tram cars? What indeed but the opposition procession from Victoria West school. By some oversight the children from that school were overlooked when the training for the chorus was in progress, so they decided to "flock by themselves and run opposition." Arrangements were made with the tramway company, who agreed to carry them all for five cents a head for the round trip and supplied four cars for transportation. Shouts of defiant gloe they raised as they glided by the big procession. The Maple Leaf and other soul stirring songs were struck up and whizz away they went to the end of the track. Here they formed in procession and to the number of 225 marched into the exhibition grounds. As they entered each child was given a ballot to cast for the most popular exhibit. Shortly afterwards the sound of music announced the approach of the main school procession. The large gates were thrown open and in a few moments more the head of the column entered. First came the B.C.B.G.A. band, then the Girls' Central school to the number of 400, South Park school 420; North Ward, 450; Boys' Central, 400; Spring Ridge, 200; High school, 100—total, 1,970. Adding to these the Victoria West pupils, 225 and the St. Louis college and pupils of the convent, there must have been with the small children who had come earlier in the day nearly 3,000 children on the grounds. Mr. J. H. Falconer, who was one of the originators of the children's day project, marched ahead of the band with a regular sunbeam smile. As the various schools entered the grounds they were marshalled into position outside of the main building by school divisions, and the 500 chosen for the choir were placed in position on the broad platform and steps leading down from the building, the B. C. B. G. A. band being stationed at the foot of the living pyramid. Then Dr. Milne, president of the association, to whom was allotted the pleasant task of welcoming the children, told them how pleased the association were to have them present at the exhibition. The young people he saw before him would be the competitors of the future, and the excellent work they had exhibited promised well for the future. As an educational effect the various things to be seen at the exhibition would be very valuable to the young. He closed by expressing the hope that all would enjoy themselves during their visit to the fair.

Principal Paul briefly returned thanks on behalf of the schools to the directors of the exhibition and the Province for the treat given to the children. Mr. Russell the conductor of the chorus gave a couple of raps with his baton, the band struck up the first notes of Red, White and Blue and the grand chorus of children broke forth into the grand old patriotic song. The singing was excellent, the children singing well together and accompanied by the band. "The North wind doth blow," the well known Jacobite song "Will ye no come back again," "The world is full of music," "Over the harbor bar," "Ring the school bells," "Away in the dim old forest," and "Ud-ides" were the other numbers of the programme given by the children, and the immense crowd of people applauded vigorously, the singing. "God Save the Queen" brought the performance to a close. Naturally, however, regret was expressed by many people that not a single Canadian patriotic song was included in the programme, as it seemed only appropriate that on such an occasion "The Maple Leaf Forever" should have had first place.

The singing over, the throng of children streamed away in every direction taking in the sights. The announcement that the stock would be paraded especially for the little visitors caused a regular rush for the stock yards and in a twinkling hundreds of youngsters were swarming around the fences of the ring. They evidently approved of the horses and especially little Chubby the Shetland pony as she marched about gaily decked with rosettes of ribbon on mane and tail. Another rush was then made for the building and the various wonderful things there examined. M. W. Waitt & Company had prepared for the invasion by laying in a big supply of tin whistles which they distributed free to the youngsters. Between the shouts of the children and the tremendous tooting of the whistles the noise was simply deafening.

The next move was to the driving park to see the horse races. Like young turkeys on the roost the small boys perched themselves on top of the fence, blowing their whistles and regaling themselves with candy and peanuts. The Indian tugs-of-war also afforded immense amusement.

They had their own sports, too—tugs-of-war between the different schools and girls' and boys' races to finish up with.

Some forty small boys entered in the 100 yards dash. Willie Gillespie, North Ward school, won, with Walter Duncan, of the Central, second, and T. Furnival, Central school, third. Emma Johnston, Central school, won the girls' race, Gracie Scully, Central school, second, and Minnie Looney, North Ward school, third.

Six o'clock struck as the last race was finished, and the children having fairly tired themselves out with their day's amusement went home delighted beyond measure with the glorious time they had had.

SOMEWHAT DISAPPOINTING

Were the Exhibition Bicycle Races When at Last Disposed Of.

Generally disappointing in the end were the frequently postponed bicycle races which were eventually cleared from the card of exhibition attractions yesterday. The track was slow and sticky as could well be imagined, and only a few of the flyers who entered were on hand to start. Some of them now claim that they had no notification of the change from Saturday to Friday, although Mr. Tulloch asserts that the word was passed to all on Thursday evening; still others were not prepared to race under such adverse conditions as had presented themselves. The crowd of spectators was in harmony with all else—very slim and the reverse of enthusiastic. The betting was represented by a great big cipher. Nevertheless the programme was gone through with as conscientiously as possible. The boys' race had been struck from the list by the celebration authorities, and the city championship remains to be disposed of later on. The other events were run off, and the Nanaimo contingent as usual furnished most of the sport and went home with the chief prizes.

For the novice race, Thomas A. Johnson, G. T. Moody and W. A. Carter faced the starter, Johnson being a hot favorite. There had been a protest talked of in connection with this race, but none being forthcoming the trio were sent away, Moody cutting the pace from the start, with Johnson second, and Carter, who rode a disabled wheel which threatened every minute to collapse under him, a good third. In the second half Johnson came up and gave battle for place, heading Moody once but being unable to hold him. In the stretch the race was a good one, but there was no change of positions. Moody finished first with Johnson only a length away—time, 3:31. Just after the wire was passed an unfortunate mishap occurred. Johnson, who had ridden a first-class race, and who it can only be said in apology must have been ridden out so to have lost his head, left his course and collided with the winner, whose trail was straight as a string. Neither man was hurt, and a broken spoke was the total damage to machines, but Johnson in consequence declined to take his mount into any of the other races for which he had entered.

The quarter-mile brought out James and Albert Deeming and W. Gray, of Nanaimo, with W. A. Carter, of Victoria. The race was the elder Deemings' from the start, and the time 3:39.5 Albert Deeming finished second. In the mile open slower time was made than in the novice effort that was first on the card. The trouble arose over the pace-making. The Deemings, who with A. B. Clabon, of Vancouver, made up the field, wanted the latter to make the clip at the CAPITAL NOTES.

Chief Justice Meredith Appointed by Order-in-Council—Customs and Excise Returns.

Decrease in Capital Expenditure—Committed For Setting Fire to Booth's Lumber Yard.

Change in the Command of the Governor-General's Foot Guards.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—The order-in-council appointing Mr. Meredith Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas of Ontario was signed to-day.

The revenue for the quarter ended September was $1,300,000 less than for the same period last year. The decrease was entirely in customs and excise. The public debt decreased $1,400,000 since June 30. The expenditure on capital account for the quarter was $600,000 less than last year, mostly caused by the practical completion of the Soo canal.

John White, incendiary, has been committed for trial on a charge of setting fire to Booth's lumber yard; also on several other counts.

Col. Toller, of the Governor-General's foot guards, has resigned to be succeeded by Major Hodgins.

ONTARIO CHIEF JUSTICESHIP.

Mr. Meredith Will Accept the Position—Opinions of the "World" and "Globe."

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—The retirement of Mr. Meredith from political life is fully confirmed. He has decided to take the chief justiceship and will resign the position of legal adviser to the city at once. The council will receive it on Monday.

Referring to Mr. Meredith's acceptance of the chief justiceship of Ontario, the World this morning says: "There is no man in Canada that has made more personal sacrifices than Mr. Meredith has. He will take to the courts a dignity, a manliness and a judicial sense that will make his work a credit to himself and those who appointed him."

The Globe says: "Mr. Meredith's high character, industry and fine legal attainments will enable him to do eminent service for the province. While the province will be the gainer, it will lose by the withdrawal of Mr. Meredith from the more active sphere of public service."

THE HONOR DECLINED.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—(Special)—Rev. W. Hibbert Binney, rector of Northwich, England, who was on Wednesday unanimously elected Bishop of New Westminster, was at once communicated with by cable. Within a few hours he replied, declining elevation to the episcopate. Another wire was at once despatched asking him to reserve his final decision until the letter reached him from the diocesan synod. Mr. Binney will be strongly urged to accept.

A young man named McMillan, 21 years old, was killed at Port Moody mills last night. He undertook to put a belt on a pulley with the end of a board. The board caught between the belt and the pulley, striking him on the side of the head. He remained unconscious all night and died this morning.

THREATENED EVENTUALITIES.

Possible Re-opening of the Eastern Question the Cause of the Emergent British Cabinet Council.

Russia Feared to Have Anti English Designs Dependent on Chinese Defeat.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Threatened eventualities in the East, is the official explanation of the summoning of the emergency cabinet council which plunged all Europe in a veritable war panic. An order issued by the Lords of the Admiralty to night will be regarded as of vastly greater importance and significance than the meagre, unsatisfactory announcement which came from official hands after the adjournment of the council. This decree transfers at once the headquarters of the channel navy squadron from Portsmouth to Gibraltar. In other words, the strongest section of the British navy, that designed for the home defence, is suddenly ordered practically to reinforce the British squadron in the Mediterranean.

It is reported to-day from another semi-official source that no issues between France and England are in such an acute stage that they cannot be safely left to diplomacy. This strange naval order tends to confirm this statement, for, although in the event of hostilities between France and England, the former power would probably strike the earliest blow against the British Mediterranean fleet, Great Britain would never leave her own coast unprotected in order to meet a smaller danger. Orders for the material reinforcement of the Asiatic squadron were also issued after the cabinet adjourned, but these instructions are by no means sufficiently important to demand cabinet advice or sanction. There is not even a hint as yet of the sudden and startling tidings which caused the hasty summons of the cabinet. It was definitely ascertained that at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning there was nothing in sight to call the cabinet together until the meeting in the ordinary course six weeks hence. Five hours later the most urgent dispatches were sent to the ministers in all directions. The attempt to intercept Sir Vernon Harcourt in Paris failed and none of the messages sent to various points of his journey reached him until he was too far away to get back to London in time.

The most common assumption among the members of parliament and other public men is that there has been suddenly discovered a secret plot of international scheme underlying the Japanese Chinese war, and that a great power, presumably Russia, has anti-English designs dependent on Chinese defeat. All this is mere speculation. All the excitement for the past two days would have been avoided if the crisis had occurred while parliament was in session. Special cabinet councils then would have no public significance. When England and France were literally on the verge of war over the Siam difficulty 14 months ago the matter was dealt with by the cabinet without the public realizing the danger till weeks after the crisis had passed.

The Times prints a dispatch from its Paris correspondent stating that Mr. Phelps, secretary of the embassy and charged'affaires in the absence of Lord Dufferin, the British ambassador, had an interview with M. Hanotaux, foreign minister, and the intercourse of the two was very cordial. After leaving M. Hanotaux Mr. Phelps expressed his conviction that any difficulties which may have arisen between France and England are perfectly susceptible of settlement.

Commenting on the Eastern situation the Post says: The present position of China cannot be lightly regarded. If that empire was broken up or its position imperilled the outlook would be extremely grave. Hitherto we have been accustomed to regard China as an ally, and we have trenchant agreements with her which require close attention. Li Hung Chang is the only man of eminence in China capable of advising the Emperor at this juncture. He deserves any aid that England can afford him in the effort to save his country from the terrible dangers with which it is menaced.

"The Graphic says: "It is time a halt was called by the Europeans powers interested in keeping peace. Neither Great Britain nor Russia can wish to see China permanently crippled by the Japanese. A state of chaos in the former empire would raise problems that would set the world ablaze."

The Daily News says: "There is no reason whatever to believe that the alarming rumors of the last few days were the offspring of any inspiration, but that arising from a complete misunderstanding of the actual state of things."

The Chronicle says: It is difficult to understand why an act so purely administrative as that of increasing the squadron in Chinese waters could not have been decided without summoning the cabinet in hot haste from all parts of the kingdom and Europe.

The Telegraph, in an article written in a similar strain to that of the Chronicle, remarks that three of the five ships ordered to China could not possibly arrive there in time to avert the possible massacre of British subjects, nor would a vessel of the type of the first class cruiser St. George be needed merely to keep order at the treaty ports. The paper hints that possibly a further emergency is being provided for.

The Japan Gazette says Japanese journalists are taking alarm at the prospect of an alliance between England, France, Germany and Russia. The greatest alarm is that which from the tenor of native newspaper comment may be readily guessed. They fear that after Japan has demolished the Chinese fleet and driven the Chinese out of Korea the four European powers will intervene and prevent Japan inflicting any further injuries on China, so that indemnity will not be obtainable.

AFTER THE FIRE.

Condition of Some of the Sufferers by the Fire—Fire Protection Provision.

Another small fire hall is to be erected to replace the building destroyed by Friday's fire. Subscriptions are being taken up for the purchase of a new fire bell and the council will be approached with the view of obtaining more modern alarm appliances at the Nichol street fire call.

TERMINAL CITY TOPICS.

Honduras Miners on Their Way to Cariboo—Telephone Extension—Poultry and Pet Stock.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—(Special)—The report of the rich finds in Cariboo published in the COLONIST has reached Honduras, and word has reached the city that a party of Honduran miners are on their way here who are insured to hardship and mountain climbing, and will prospect the entire country. Assistant Superintendent Downie left for Toronto and Eastern points yesterday. The Vancouver Telephone Company are establishing an exchange in Vernon.

Meetings of the pet stock and poultry association are being regularly held. The poultry is on view at the meeting and members take turns in instructing the uninitiated in the art of profitably raising poultry and pet stock.

The Y.M.C.A. parlors were opened last night in a formal manner. The life and enthusiasm of the reception spoke well for the future of the society under the new arrangements.

U. S. DUTY ON CEDAR.

The Ottawa Government Asked to Procure the Removal of This Impost.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—(Special)—The lumber dealers of Vancouver and Westminster are forwarding a petition to Ottawa praying the government to ask the U. S. congress to remove the duty on British Columbia cedar on the ground that sawn cedar has been classed with rosewood and other high grades as a luxury, when in this province it is as common as pine in Ontario. In an interview with Mr. Cassidy it was suggested to the COLONIST correspondent that while the people to the south were making a great hue and cry over the tariff on fir being removed and were howling over the disastrous results that would follow the admission of free lumber from British Columbia into the States they were quietly working the ropes to have the duty on cedar increased from 10 to 25 per cent., and at the same time British Columbia lumbermen were looking forward to cedar, and cedar alone, as the one kind of lumber that it would be profitable for them to saw and ship into the States. The question is can it be landed as lumber, supposing that the Consul at this end passed it on as lumber according to his reading of the tariff.

C. P. R. OFFICIAL CHANGES.

Removal of Prominent Members of the B. C. Staff—Electric Lighting Tenders.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—(Special)—An English paper is to hand containing an article on Canada's transcontinental railroad. It is casually mentioned in this article that owing to certain circumstances a number of prominent officials in the Pacific division are to be retired and a list of names is given. It also states that Mr. Marpole is to be placed at the head of the division.

At a special council meeting last night the tender for the electric light plant for the city was awarded to the British Columbia Iron works, working under the patent of the Thompson, Houston Company. Their tender for arc and incandescent plants, circuit and all essentials was $56,393. The contract will not be let until the by-law becomes law.

NANAIMO NEWS.

NANAIMO, Oct. 5.—(Special)—A search party leaves town to-morrow on Monday to look for James and John Allan and Thomas Milburn, who left this city on August 23 last on a hunting expedition for Jarvis Inlet and have not been heard of since. Their friends are extremely anxious as to their safety.

Judge Harrison to-day gave a decision in the suit of Young v. Back. The plaintiff was non-suited on the ground that the note was not presented; leave being granted to enter a fresh suit. Everything is in good shape for Nanaimo's first agricultural show to-morrow. Provided the weather be propitious, there is no doubt it will be a great success.

WINNIPEG WIRINGS.

Laurier's Movements—Father Cherrier Likely to Succeed Archbishop Tache—Movements of the Governor-General.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5.—(Special)—Hon. Wilfred Laurier and his colleagues are expected to leave Winnipeg for the East, October 25. Laurier will be banquetted at the Manitoba hotel here on Oct. 24.

An evening paper says it has learned on excellent authority that Rev. Father Cherrier is likely to be appointed to the vacancy caused by the death of the Archbishop of St. Boniface. It is said the appointment will be made in about four weeks.

The Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen arrived at Brandon this morning and were presented with addresses by the school board and the school children at 10:30 in the central school building. His Excellency replied to the addresses in a very neat and practical manner. This afternoon they met the teachers in the city hall and were afterwards presented with an address by the citizens.

Hon. Mr. Daly says that no general elections will be held for eighteen months yet. He leaves for Ottawa to-morrow.

The scrofulous taint which may have been in your blood for years, may be thoroughly expelled by giving Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

A Boon to Horsemen.—One bottle of English Spavin Liniment completely removed a curb from my horse. I take pleasure in recommending the remedy, as it acts with mysterious promptness in the removal of hard, soft or calloused lumps, blood spavin, splints, curbs, swellings, stifles and sprains.

Speaks through the Boothbay (Me.) Register, of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of Ayer's Pills. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me relief until I was induced to try the old reliable Ayer's Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are in need of a laxative to try Ayer's Pills. They will do good."

"HYDE FARM"

SHAWNIGAN DISTRICT

IS A MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY, containing 484 acres, suitable for mixed farming. A large portion of the Farm has formerly been cropped. There are large portions of it that are suitable for Grazing and Dairying Purposes. Now that Hops are likely to become one of B. C.'s profitable crops, a couple of hundred acres of Hyde Farm could be utilized for this purpose. The Farm is supplied with an abundance of water the year round, and water for power can be secured from the falls of the Koksilah River, which stream is the boundary line of the property on one side. Brick Clay, Lime Rock and Bog Iron Ore exist on the Farm, with the prospect of Coal also being discovered. There is plenty of Timber for all purposes, some of it of a merchantable character.

"HYDE FARM"

Is a short distance from the E. & N. Railway Line at either end of the property, and the Victoria and Nanaimo Wagon Road passes through it, therefore it is specially well located for shipping purposes. Excellent Shooting and Fishing is to be had on the property and in the Koksilah River. Deer, Grouse, Duck and Geese abound. In fact Hyde Farm is well located for all practical and pleasureable purposes, and is a chance not often met with for a man of moderate means to secure a small estate, which is sure to become extremely valuable, as the development of the Island progresses. In the meantime its utilization for Mixed Farming or Cattle Raising Purposes would bring in a fair income.

MARINE MOVEMENTS.

The "Mischief" Completes an Adventurous Trip to the North and Back Again.

More Sealers Home With Profitable Catches—Reported Loss of the "Oregon."

Tempestuous and exciting as was her voyage to the Arctic regions, the steam schooner Mischief is safe home again. She left here just a little more than two months ago with heavy freight for a commercial company on the upper Yukon, and has had since then numerous thrilling adventures. She bears the marks of rough weather and on the way down from Ounakla encountered no fewer than five gales which tested her seaworthiness to the utmost. If ever passengers were glad to conclude an eventful voyage, thirteen Yukon miners were yesterday, who came down on the schooner with Captain Foot. They gave up in despair when the last lifeboat was smashed and sent adrift, and thereafter waited a melancholy accompaniment to the song of the storm. Captain Foot, the Mischief's commander, all but lost his life by being sent overboard during one rough portion of the trip. He was standing at the wheel when a sea swept the decks, carrying him several feet and leaving him clinging desperately to the rail. On another occasion the steamer's smokestack was swept clean off the deck and lost. As the result of the heavy wind, the mainmast was also badly sprung in two places. These, however, were only sample features of the expedition, for while on her way North from here the vessel had quite as many narrow escapes from swamping as at any time during her absence. It was generally remarked among mariners here when the steamer started on the voyage that she was pretty heavily laden, but the cargo was afterwards further increased by forty tons of coal taken on at Nanaimo. The trouble commenced off the Queen Charlotte Islands. The schooner was using no steam power and stood well out to sea in order that her sails could be handled to advantage. When the storm overtook her, her heavy cargo proved too great a strain, and she sprang a leak. The freight in the lower hold was of course at once affected. Nothing could be done to remedy matters except to keep the pumps working, and this just held the craft afloat. Cargo was damaged to the extent of $5,000 or $6,000. A second storm was experienced in the sea before the schooner reached her destination, which made affairs still worse. However, when the schooner was lightened of her cargo at St. Michael's, about 100 miles north of the Yukon, the leaks were found not to be serious, though the annoyance continued to a certain extent throughout the voyage. Returning, the Mischief had difficulty in getting up the straits, notwithstanding the fact that some little coal had been preserved to cover this part of the voyage by steam. The night before last was dreadfully foggy, and as the schooner had no binoculars and a very misleading compass the situation was decidedly awkward. Captain Foot says it is a troublesome business to handle freight now on the Yukon, expressly for British subjects living at the head of the river beyond the American boundary. At present there are five American and one British vessel plying on the river and the advantages which the former take of the latter are anything but reasonable. The Americans at present have it all their own way, and though their steamers trade in British waters with the greatest freedom, they make their "friends" comply with all the restrictions of the law. On the other hand, the Mackenzie river is free to them; the American commercial companies find a profitable business in dealing with the natives there and the American whalers have free access to the valuable shelter it affords in winter. On reaching St. Michael's, the Mischief found it necessary to take on provisions, but owing to the exorbitant price asked for everything no luxuries were indulged in. Four pounds of sugar were got among other things, and $1 paid therefore. The freight rate on the Yukon river is $100 per ton. While north Captain Foot collected a number of fine curios. There was a big fleet of vessels at Ounakla when the steamer called, and from an officer of the U. S. Albatross on September 13, Captain Foot got the following list of seal catches: Ainoka, 1,300; Kilmeny, 300; Henrietta, 600; San Jose, 800; and Sapphire, 1,500. These catches are probably the latest reported.

TWO SEALERS ARRIVE.

Two of the sealing schooners which have been hunting in Behring sea arrived home yesterday. They are the Minnie, Captain Victor Jacobsen, and the Kate, Captain Schoer. The former has a catch of 2,144 skins for the year, 1,660 having been taken in the sea; and the latter has 867 for her cruise just ended. On the Minnie's deck lies a peculiar looking box, containing the remains of an Indian woman who died aboard the schooner on July 11. She had been the cook for the Indian crew, and her death was very sudden, occurring about five hours after her first indication of illness. After the death occurred the schooner called at Quinmak Island, where the remains were temporarily laid at rest until the vessel was returning home. The Indians objected to the woman being buried at sea, and in order that she might receive burial here had her remains carefully preserved in salt. Among the sealers reported by the Minnie are the Ainoka, Beatrice, Henrietta and Kilmeny. The Ainoka was spoken on September 17 with 1,630 skins, and on the following day the Beatrice was met, with 1,580 skins, it being her intention then to return home on the 18th. A week or so prior to this the Kilmeny was in Ounakla getting provisions and had a catch of about 600 skins. Owing to grounding on her way North the Henrietta did not commence sealing till August 15, but when spoken by the Minnie had a catch of 400. The grounding of the U. S. steamship Adams was heard of by the Minnie through the Alaska Commercial Company's hunters, who say the steamer's distress signals frightened all the seals around the islands for miles and their catches there this year will consequently be small. On the way home the Minnie met bad weather. She was carried beyond the Straits about 200 miles W. S. W. of Cape Flattery and in longitude 132:11 W. Seven or eight days ago she spoke the Mermaid returning from her Copper Island and Japanese coast cruises with 2,134 skins. The Mermaid's forward port rail and her foretopmast had been carried away in a gale.

THE "OREGON" REPORTED LOST.

A dispatch from Nanaimo says: "It is reported here that the bark Oregon, coal laden from this port for San Francisco, has been wrecked off Cape Flattery. It is stated that wreckage has been seen answering the descriptions of portions of that vessel. The Oregon has been out ten days. The rumor is not generally credited here." Though several vessels arrived in Victoria from sea yesterday none report sighting wreckage.

Tickets good to return on Thursday, either on the direct boat or from Vancouver; $1.25, including admission to the fair.

OCEAN VOYAGERS.

The steamship City of Puebla, which sailed last evening for San Francisco, carried among her saloon passengers from Victoria, the following: T. C. Benjamin, J. Van Bramer, Mrs. (Captain) J. A. Thompson, Geo. H. Brodick, Mrs. L. Reid, M. B. Murphy and wife, Miss D. Van Volkenburg, Miss J. Tillman, E. B. Eddy and wife, W. S. Snell, Geo. Osborne and Miss L. Tyson.

Small Lot Household Furniture, Stove and Pipes, Crockery, etc., etc.

This Property is within easy distance of many of the most important Gold, Silver and Coal Mines in West Kootenay. The population of this district will increase this year by at least 10,000; the area of farm land is very limited, and from this it may be fairly asserted that beef and all classes of farm produce will find a ready and lucrative market. The soil is the best bottom land, and the locality is one of the few places in the Province where so large a piece of good farm land can be found in one block. A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Coyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Gattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place. The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of acres, and is available to the few land owners in the valley. All buildings and fences about the farm are a good order, and farming operations can be gone on with at once; about 180 acres of ploughing have been, so far, provided for this year's work.

The Climate is not severe, the land being about 1,100 feet above sea level; the station was for many years the winter quarters of the H. B. Co.'s pack trains. There is a weekly express in and out. Goods and supplies at wholesale can be procured on order and delivered in 48 hours.

The Title is by grant from the Crown, and is free of all encumbrances. Immediate possession can be given.

Important Railway works are now in progress within moderate distance, and two railway lines have been run to pass close to or through the estate, which can be reached in the spring in three days' journey from Victoria.

The South West Kootenay District, British Columbia, judging from the actual ore products of the mines this winter, is destined in the next year or two to become one of the richest and most important mineral centres in the world. Statistics show that although the district is in its primary stage, the mines have developed ore veins rich enough to warrant the investment of over million dollars. When these mines come to be worked systematically, there will be an Influx of Population, which will require beef and farm produce in large quantities. The limited quantity of really good farm land in the district to supply these requirements makes this

ENSLAQUES.

A very large proportion of the grain crop of the farmers of the Fraser River valley whose land was flooded this spring will not ripen. As the rainy season has set in, it will be impossible to save this grain for fodder in the usual way. Consequently some of the farmers talk of turning their cattle into the fields of growing grain so that they may get some good of the crop while it is fit to eat. But the stock will need fodder in the winter, and if the grain is trampled under foot now, the poor beasts, if they are not killed early, will have to starve in the winter months. But there is no necessity for this. There is a way of utilizing the green crop, even when there is no sunshine to dry it after it is out, and the fodder thus saved is more nutritious than hay dried in the sun.

If the farmers of the Fraser River valley adopt the ensilage system they will save their crop and be able to use it to the best advantage. We find in the report of the Department of Agriculture, in the statements from the different settlements, the words "ensilage not tried" very frequently. We infer from this that the majority of the settlers are not convinced of the advantages of this mode of preserving feed for their cattle. We find, however, that Chilli-wack is one of the rare exceptions. Mr. Horatio Webb wrote to the Department last year:

"There are two silos in use; I have one, and it has given good satisfaction. I did not get the corn as ripe as I should have liked to, but it is coming out good and the cattle are doing well on it. I put in, besides cut corn, cut green oats, green peas, barley, and some cabbage. Cattle were very fond of all of them. I do not think the time is far distant when there will be a silo on every farm of any size."

Mr. Webb would no doubt be glad to give his neighbors information as to how this ensilage which the cattle liked so well is prepared. If the settlers who are talking of turning their cattle into their fields of unripe grain were told how they could convert it into wholesome feed for their cattle, they and their stock would be very greatly benefited. We were under the impression that ensilage could not be prepared unless the farmer had either pits or buildings made expressly for the purpose, but we are informed that these are not absolutely necessary. If the green grain is properly stacked and pressed with logs or stones it can be preserved without any greater loss than a few inches of the outside that has been exposed to the weather. Any settler, therefore, can save his green oats, barley, millet, &c., without being put to extra expense. The fodder may be saved in wet weather. A gentleman who has given attention to the subject informed the writer that the grain may be dripping wet without being in danger of being spoiled in the process.

We would deem it a favor if gentlemen who have a practical knowledge of the preparation of ensilage would give the public the benefit of their experience through the columns of the COLONIST. The subject is just at this moment one of considerable importance, for if there is any process by which the farmers who have suffered by the flood can save their growing crop for winter use, to put them in the way of applying it would be doing them a very great service.

A TRADITIONAL ANTIPATHY.

It is very evident that the Koreans have no love for their self-constituted protectors and dictators the Japanese. There are many indications that their predilections are in favor of China. They do all in their power to aid the Chinese army, but they will not voluntarily perform the least service for the Japanese. Their hatred of the Japanese is traditional. It is a deeply-seated national prejudice. It is said to be three hundred years old. There seems to be a better cause for it than there is for most national antipathies. Three centuries ago, as the story goes, the Japanese wantonly invaded Korea. They devastated the country and almost depopulated it. The triumphant invaders were marching on to China when they were met by a Chinese army and routed. They retreated through Korea, and the remnant that escaped took refuge in Fusan. But Korea never recovered from the effects of that invasion. Two-thirds of the population were destroyed, the industries of the country were annihilated, nothing was left of its commerce and the survivors were in misery. The remembrance of that invasion is still fresh in the minds of the people of Korea, and the hatred that it engendered is still alive and active. It is said by those who claim to know the people of Korea that they will never submit to the rule of Japan. They may not attempt any active resistance, but they will not be content until the Japanese are again driven out of their country by the Chinese, whom they regard as their deliverers.

This may be very true, but if all accounts are anything like correct the people of Korea could not possibly be in a worse condition than they are at present. If Japan or any other civilized or partially civilized power gets possession of the country it cannot help improving the condition of the people. Their own Government robs them and keeps them in the deepest poverty. Rulers that are at all enlightened would, for their own sake and in their own interest, do what they could to make the resources of the country available. In doing this they would necessarily lift the people out of the misery in which they have been living so long. But it is more than probable that the Koreans would not be thankful for the improvement. It seems that they are too degraded and too miserable to realize that they are degraded and miserable. They seem quite willing to continue to live as they have been living.

AN IMPORTANT REPORT.

We have received the Third Report of the Department of Agriculture of the Province of British Columbia, 1893. This report makes quite a handsome volume, and it contains much information of great value to both the farmers now in the Province and to those who propose to settle in it with the view of cultivating the soil. The nature of the report may be inferred from the following extract from an address by Mr. James A. Anderson, the indefatigable and highly intelligent Statistician of the Department:

The objects sought to be attained by the creation of the Department are manifold, and may be stated briefly as follows: To ascertain the needs, wishes and difficulties of the farming population; to serve as guides in any remedial measures which may be contemplated; to be a medium of advice in all matters appertaining to the welfare of agriculturists; a Department always at their disposal for consultations and advice, and where they can always find the attention which their cases demand; to acquire information as to the quality of the lands of the different parts of the Province, the quantity owned, the quantity cultivated, the quantity capable of cultivation, means and facilities of irrigation and drainage, value of the property of the agriculturists of the Province in order that a just estimate can be formed of the importance of the agricultural interests; to ascertain what crops, fruits and live stock are most suitable for the different parts of the country; to ascertain what diseases and pests are prevalent or are being introduced, and liable to become dangerous, so that remedies may be suggested and means devised to counteract them; to ascertain the climatic conditions of all parts of the Province, a matter of much importance to agriculturists; to furnish such data of our importations of agricultural productions as will give the agriculturist an idea of the products that are most likely to prove remunerative; to ascertain the actual production of the country and by comparison, year by year, to note what progress the Province is making, and by the means outlined to furnish such information to intending immigrants as may be considered reliable, and without that pernicious gloss so often given to statements of unreliable reports; to ascertain by analysis the component parts of the soils from the different sections of the country so that the tillers of the soil may be able to judge what crops are best suited to their particular locality, and the fertilizers most needed to bring the soil up to the required standard.

The Report follows the above outline closely from observations made by farmers residing largely in the different settlements. There is, therefore, hardly a subject on which the settler himself or the intending immigrant requires information that is not fully noticed in the Report. Even a cursory examination of it will show the enquirer in what parts of the Province grain can be grown well, what parts are suited to the cultivation of fruit, and where the best grazing districts are situated. He will also find a faithful account of the enemies which the farmer, the gardener, and the grazier will have to encounter in the different sections, and he is told of the best means hitherto discovered for subduing them. The statistical tables of the Report are evidently compiled with great care, and no doubt from reliable data. The reader of the Report will learn from it what parts of the country are dry and in what parts the rainfall is the greatest, and also the summer and winter temperature of the different districts. The quantity of grain, hay, roots, etc., raised to the acre, and the prices for which they can be sold are duly recorded in this agricultural report. The reader can see from this imperfect account that to the person who wishes to get detailed and reliable information relative to the agricultural resources and capabilities of the Province, the Report of the Department of Agriculture is invaluable. We may say here, too, that information contained in the Report can be readily found, for it has, as all such reports should have, a copious and carefully arranged index.

THE provincial board of horticulture has been reappointed under the act passed last session, the members being, in addition to the regular officers: First district, Andrew Ohlson, Victoria district; second district, Theodore Trage, Salt Spring Island; third district, Henry Kipp, Chilliwack; fourth district, Thos. The rules and regulations of the board have been amended somewhat, providing more stringently against the introduction of fruit pests.

THE Morning Post, London, Eng., says: "We are authorized to state that the marriage arranged between Commander the Hon. H. A. Stanhope, R.N., and Helen, elder daughter of the late Mr. Magniao and of the Hon. Mrs. Magniao, will not take place." Commander Stanhope served in the Warspite, flagship of Vice-Admiral Hotham, and is well known in Victoria. It is rumored in Naval circles that the reason alleged for breaking off his marriage with Miss Magniao was his assiduous attentions to an American heiress during the London season.

"DANGEROUS PLAY."—This is the caption to "A Wonderful Story," by M. Volkhart, and is one of the pictures in part eighteen of the Masterpieces. The fascinating story-teller has already narrated himself into the home of the beautiful girl he met at the home of his friend. His attention and his stories, as told by a silvery tongue, are rapidly making inroads into the heart of the fair young damsel. If it is but play, it is of a dangerous kind. Perhaps the old mother enjoying the reading of her Bible will yet become aware of the danger.

Japanese Warships Patrolling the Sea of Pechili—A Question of European Importance.

The Peace of the Orient Must Be Secured—British Vessels For China.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Morning Post insists that it is impossible to allow Japan to dictate terms to China without consulting the European powers. The Post discusses American interests in the question, and concludes that these are purely commercial while Europe's are also political. For the sake of the world's peace, it says, Russia, Germany, France and Great Britain must intervene.

The British Admiralty have ordered the first class cruiser St. George now at Portsmouth to proceed to China and the second class cruiser Aeolus from the Mediterranean squadron. The gunboats Redbreast and Pigeon of the East India squadron have also been ordered to Chinese waters. This action is understood to be in accordance with the decision of to-day's cabinet council.

Representatives of the Tai Gai Kohi, or strong foreign policy party, now in Tokio, held a meeting recently and discussed the policy to be pursued by the approaching session of the diet. They arrived at a resolution that peace must not be made with China until an agreement can be come to with her securing the permanent peace of the Orient. They further determined that no expense must be spared to achieve the above result.

EXPERIENCES OF SURVEYORS

While Needless Risks Are Avoided
Their Work Needs Men of Iron Frame.

About Photo topography — Nature of the Far North and Its Development.

Paying-off and other business in completion of the field work of the Northern section of the Alaskan boundary commission, has been progressing satisfactorily since their return on the Thistle a few days ago, and the last of the surveyors bound East will probably go with their leader, Mr. Wm. Ogilvie, to-morrow. The field work being still incomplete, Victoria will see the surveyors again next spring, and as far as the section under Mr. Ogilvie's direction is concerned it is likely that under ordinary conditions three parties will finish it early in 1895.

Various articles have appeared describing in harrowing terms the risks incurred in the work of this commission, but it is the opinion of the members of this section that those who furnish such accounts run the risks a la Mark Twain in climbing the Alps—that is, they were ascending through a telescope from the deck of a ship or some other comfortable base of operations. One instance was noted where a man's life was almost lost by an avalanche of snow and ice which passed over a point he had stood on some time before its descent! It is not pretended, says Mr. Ogilvie, that there are no dangers in the prosecution of this work; there are many dizzy precipices, yawning chasms, and frowning cliffs in the way of ascent. But as there is generally some way around these, and surveyors are not more inclined to suicide than other people, they keep away from such places. The labor in connection with the survey is, however, extremely hard. A man must be of iron frame and constitution to stand it. As an instance, Mr. Ogilvie and the members of his party on one occasion started at 2 o'clock in the morning, walked at least fifteen miles through snow often waist deep, forded a river running with ice water thigh deep one hundred yards in width, crossed several smaller streams by fording, traversed the slope of the Mendenhall glacier, meandering here and there over its surface to avoid the deep crevasses in it, to the summit of a mountain at its head 6,100 feet above sea level, spent two hours on a giddy cone on its top, from which there was a sheer descent on one side of over 2,000 feet, and returned by the way they went, tired, hungry, wet and cold, arriving back at camp at 12 o'clock the succeeding night. Thus every member of his party on that occasion endured twenty-two successive hours of the most severe physical labor, apart from the cold and suffering. Twenty-five ascents were made by his party during the summer, several of them 6,000 feet and upwards, many 5,000, the majority over 4,000. The other parties no doubt experienced just as much hardship, some probably making as many or more ascents.

The weather during the season proved more favorable than in the preceding one, allowing the parties to make much greater progress. They had, too, the benefit of the previous year's experience, for none of the members of the commission except Mr. McArthur had been engaged before then in that class of work. Thus it was that this section of the commission were this season enabled to cover twice as much ground as in the previous one.

While no accident befell any of the surveyors, on one occasion the members of Mr. Ogilvie's party had a somewhat exciting experience with a fusillade of snowballs ranging from the size of an egg to that of a hog's head. They had passed a bed of snow lying on a steep incline and were several hundred feet below it on a smooth rocky slope, when a roar from the heights was heard. Someone glanced up and shouted "Lookout!" All eyes were turned in the direction from which the cause of alarm came, and saw great masses of snow flying over the smooth side of the mountain towards them and every moment gaining speed. All sought cover at once with a promptitude which made up for any departure from military precedent. No one was hurt and all enjoyed a hearty laugh when the fusillade had passed, as each one criticised the appearance and posture of his neighbor in his hastily sought cover. One man happened to be standing in the course of a small mountain rivulet; he did not hesitate, but threw himself flat on his face in the water, with the result that he was well washed on the lower side. Only one had stood his ground, apparently spellbound, on top of a rock, where he remained until the shower passed. Once a ball of snow about a hundredweight almost grazed his hat; had it struck him it would probably have taken his head off. Such is human nature that he afterwards contended that he was the only one who displayed any presence of mind on the occasion!

The method adopted to carry out this survey work—photo-topography—has lately excited much public interest. The system pursued can hardly be understood by the majority of newspaper readers in the absence of the mathematical training necessary for its comprehension, but the following facts in connection with it, stated by Mr. Ogilvie, will not be uninteresting. "The idea," said he, "is older than photography itself, for the attempt was one time made to make a chart from sketches of country made in the dark camera. Photo-topographic surveys of a kind were made in France, Germany and Italy a great many years ago, and in the United States at least one text book was written on the subject; but its development to its present state of perfection as adopted by this commission is due to the surveyor-general of the Dominion, Mr. E. DeWille, who took up the subject some years ago with the intention of devising some cheap, quick and accurate means of survey of the mountain lands belonging to the Dominion in the British Columbia railway belt. He soon saw that the cumbersome and costly instruments used in this class of operations in Europe were unfitted for the work to be done in Canada, and thought out and devised the instruments now used by this commission. In doing this he was ably seconded by Mr. J. J. McArthur and Mr. W. E. Drury (who is now engaged in carrying out a survey of this nature for the British Columbia government), who during the years between 1884 and 1893 acted under his instructions and tested his ideas and devices in actual work along the line of the railway in the Rockies and westward. As they succeeded or failed in this or that direction, methods and instruments were changed and improved, until at present there is very little room for further progress. The method was thus proved a success in the railway belt before it was determined to adopt it in the boundary survey. In fact it was a success before the boundary survey was thought of. To sum up the method in one phrase, it is a graphic solution of the sides of a triangle. Almost everyone knows that given a line of any finite length and the direction of any given point from each of its ends that point can be located. Now, suppose a line and any point or any number of points which are desired to be located with reference to its ends. Then suppose photographs taken from each end of this line, each of which shows all those points in its field. It is easy to see that after the observer has oriented those views—that is, located the direction of the centre of the picture from the point of sight, and knowing the focal length of the lens used in the camera, he can lay off or project on the picture plane the direction of any point or points in each picture. Lines drawn in those directions from the ends of the base will intersect each other in the locus of any desired point, so long as it can be distinguished in the view. Its elevation with reference to the station occupied is determined on the same principle that elevations are found with the transit or theodolite—that is from angles of depression or elevation. The part of the coast line covered by this—the Northern—section of the survey is heavily clothed with timber, which extends to an altitude of 2,000 feet only, and as the hills rise generally abruptly from the sea it can be seen the timber resources, though vast, are yet comparatively limited. In many places even this resource is wanting, notably Glacier bay, where the timber, owing to the comparatively late recession of the glaciers, is thin and small. The fisheries are being utilized by several canneries which apparently do a fair amount of business.

The stretch of outer coast from Lituya bay to Yakutat bay, owing to the want of harbors, consequently ships having to keep a good offing, has been very little frequented until the last couple of years, when a few miners made their way into Lituya bay and discovered good washings. Since then other miners have pushed their way westward from Lituya bay to Cape Fairweather, a distance of fourteen miles, but as everything has to be first landed in Lituya bay and then packed on men's backs along the rough stony beach, one can understand the hindrance to development this condition occasions. Lituya bay was visited by the celebrated French navigator Laprouse. A small island in it called Cenotaph island is alleged to have been the burial place of a number of his crew who died from scurvy.

The mineral resources of the country traversed have been developed only in a small way except in the case of the celebrated Treadwell mine on Douglas island and the Mexican mine close to it, both under the same management, and which combine the greatest number of stamps (320) working together in the world. In Silver Bow basin, just back from Juneau, there are two or three small stamp mills working from five to fifteen or twenty stamps. At Seward city, about fifty miles from Juneau, the Newell mining company have a fair-sized stamp mill at work. With the mining mentioned on Lituya bay this may be said to comprise the great bulk of, if not the entire, mining work done on the coast. Juneau is the point of departure and outfit for miners entering the Yukon country by the Tuya pass. In the early spring months several hundred miners left Juneau for the interior on the Yukon. For several weeks before the Thistle's departure many of the miners in the interior were coming out, and their reports of the finds there are very encouraging. Many of those beyond a doubt are in Canadian territory. The place known as Forty Mile, on the Canadian side, which seven years ago consisted of one trading house and several miners' huts, is now said to be quite a town, possessing one or more mission houses, several saloons (inevitably) and several billiard halls. It is said that 400 or 500 miners will winter there this year. As one of the notorious outlaw Daltons is reported to have entered the country last summer with several hundred gallons of whiskey, intending to reach Forty-Mile late in the year, it is feared there may be a repetition of the disorders of last winter, when two drunken miners there shot each other fatally in a quarrel over cards. The more respectable miners in there, however—and they appear to be in the majority—according to latest advices had determined that all whiskey sellers would be summarily dealt with.

First. It is the only Canadian Company giving its policyholders the security of a four per cent. reserve; all others, without exception, reserving on a lower standard.

Second. The policy contract is as liberal as any issued. No restrictions as to residence, travel or occupation, and incontestable after one year.

Sec. 2. It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made, executed and issued for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of $150,000, either in currency (or sterling money at the rate of 4.86 2/3 dollars to the one pound sterling) as may be required, each of the said debentures being of the amount of $1,000 or its sterling equivalent at the rate aforesaid, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the Corporation and signed by the Mayor thereof.

TIMES OF TERROR AND FEAR.

Terrible Misery of a Well-known Toronto Gentleman.

Mr. J. B. Butts Says: "I Am Satisfied Paine's Celery Compound Saved My Life."

J. B. BUTTS, TORONTO, ONT.

Times of terror and fear, of horrible nightmares and dreams, of terror, misery and sufferings!

This is no overdrawn picture; these statements are in no way exaggerated or too darkly painted. A well-known Canadian—a respected citizen of Toronto—was plunged into the slough of despondency and darkness owing to a nervous and broken-down system, indigestion and loss of sleep. Medical skill was invoked without avail, and a special patent medicine failed to give relief, although it was recommended.

Providence in its own wise and good way brought to the sufferer that infallible balm of relief—that life-giving and strengthening medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. The wonderful remedy was Mr. Butts' salvation; it was his rescuer and deliverer from the grave.

Mr. J. B. Butts, who was so wonderfully saved from death, is the proprietor of the principal hand laundry in Toronto; his establishment at 309 Spadina Avenue, is the busiest of the kind, and the best patronized in the Queen City.

Mr. Butts writes as follows about his sufferings and troubles, his marvellous success with Paine's Celery Compound, and his perfect restoration to health:—

"Two years ago I had a very bad attack of La Grippe which left me with a nervous and broken-down system; I also suffered terribly from indigestion, and insomnia or sleeplessness added to my misery. All night I could not sleep naturally; I was troubled with horrible nightmares and dreams; indeed, my sleeping hours were to me times of terror and fear. I commenced to use a patent medicine for my troubles, but derived little benefit from it. I happened to get one of your books at my house, and after reading about the wonderful cures effected by Paine's Celery Compound, I decided to give it a trial. I procured a bottle, and began using it, and within 48 hours I was benefited. In three months I found myself fully and perfectly restored to health, and had gained 15 pounds in weight.

"I am satisfied Paine's Celery Compound saved my life, and that without it I would not now be alive. I have recommended Paine's Celery Compound to dozens of people, and the results have proved satisfactory in every case. It is without doubt the best remedy in the world."

GLANCE AT THIS MAP

Of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway and note its connections with all trans-continental lines at St. Paul and Omaha, and remember when going east that its trains are lighted with electric light and heated by steam. Its equipment is superb. Elegant Buffet, Library, Smoking, and Sleeping cars, with free reclining chairs. Each sleeping car berth has an electric reading lamp, and its dining cars are the best in the world. Some other lines are longer than this, but none are shorter, and no other offers the above luxurious accommodations. These are sufficient reasons for the popularity of "The Milwaukee Road." THE CHILDREN'S DAY.

start, promising to give him this advantage a little later. Clabon respectfully declined, and all three waited. The first eighth was done in dead march time. Then Albert Deeming offered to pilot and drew away, Jas. Deeming trailing him and Clabon being left behind. The first half was not completed under 2 08, and James Deeming, who took the race, had the small satisfaction of winning in 3 53 3 5, with his brother Albert second.
The five mile handicap produced four starters—Clabon and the three Nanaimo men. The Deemings were on scratch, Clabon 175 yards away, and Gray, the limit man, at 300 yards. Clabon was not in it at all, the heavy track and lack of condition telling hard on him. Gray made a plucky struggle and held his lead till the third mile, when Albert Deeming overhauled him. Jim did not apparently ride to win in this race, leaving the place honors without dispute to his brother, who proved quite capable to take them; Gray finished second. Time—17 23.
In connection with the running off of the races yesterday, the following protest was laid evening handed to the referee. In explanation it may be stated that he had the assurance of Mr. Tulloch, speaking for the exhibition authorities Thursday evening, that all contestants and officials had been duly notified that the races would take place the following (yesterday) morning, as the track would be too much cut up by Saturday for cycling to be possible. The protest, published hereunder, will be laid before the exhibition authorities to-day:

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 5, 1894.
To C. H. Gibbons, Chief Consul C. W. A., Victoria, B. C.
SIR:—We the undersigned members of the racing committee and "Victoria Wheelmen," do hereby protest against the delivering of the prizes offered for the bicycle races at the Victoria Driving Park.
At a meeting of the racing committee together with the directors and president of the B. C. Agricultural association and with the consent of yourself the races were postponed until Saturday, Oct. 6th, at 10 a.m.
We would like to ask by what authority the races were run off to-day without giving proper notice to all contestants.
We shall expect the races to take place tomorrow at 10 a.m. as announced, and that the prizes will be on hand to be delivered at the conclusion of the races. Very respectfully,
FRANK E. ALLEY
E. W. BRADLEY
E. J. JEFFREY

THE HORSE RACING.
Yesterday's Programme Witnessed With Great Interest and Also Amusement.
The announcement of a well varied programme of horse racing made the ring a centre of attraction to those who visited the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, and though the events did not fill as expected and dragged in a manner that rather taxed the patience of the spectators, there was some good sport.
The first called was a running race, a half-mile dash, open, in which the starters were J. M. Brennan's b. h. Ripton, W. McKee's mare Henrietta, and Henry Drew's br. m. Southern Cross. Henrietta made the pace from the start, with the other two following well together until in the finishing quarter Southern Cross fell behind and Ripton, creeping up under the spur of the driver's whip, about a hundred yards from the wire took the lead and crossed a short length ahead of Henrietta. Time 54 1/2 seconds.
A one-mile trotting and pacing contest—best two in three heats—was next called, with J. H. Brown's Mollie Cooper, M. H. Cowan's Little Johnny, and A. K. Munro's Storm entered and starting. Mollie and Johnny made a pretty neck and neck contest, and there was but a head difference in the first quarter, Johnny, on the inside, having the advantage, which he increased to a few lengths during the next half mile. In the last quarter, however, Mollie pulled up, making the heat a second and a half slower than the winner's time, 2 48 1/2. Storm broke badly throughout and was not in the race at any time, barely saving his distance.
In the second heat Johnny had a poor start and lost his position at the pole, but at the quarter distance he was in the lead, both the others having broken. From there on he had an easy thing of it, taking a great lead but finishing leisurely in 2 46 1/2. Storm and Mollie made an interesting contest for second place, which again went to the latter; and these two heats therefore completed the contest: Little Johnny 1st, Mollie Cooper 2nd prize.
The citizens' stakes—running, three-fourths of a mile—was disposed of between the two heats of the race just mentioned. There were but two entries, these being the brown filly All Smoke, owned by George Wentworth of Calgary (carrying 105 pounds) and the bay stallion Doncaster, owned by George Byrnes of this city (carrying 115 pounds). The horses had an even start, All Smoke, on the outside, leading by less than a head at the outset, but when they passed under the wire at the end of the first quarter they were as nearly as possible even. In the second quarter Doncaster in turn had a scant head to the good, but in the third and last, the whip being applied to All Smoke, the Calgary mare, being now for the first time exerted to her utmost, went to the front and won by half a length in 1 22 1/2.
A "slow race" for horses owned by bona fide farmers completed the programme. The entries were J. S. Bowker's Lightfoot, T. Lee's Ralph, and W. H. Field's Snowball, and they were as unlikely a lot of racers as could well be got together. The prizes, however, were for the last in; but riders were changed so that it was still each man's interest to send his mount ahead. Ralph and Snowball went better than appearances led the crowd to expect, and made a fairly good race. Lightfoot absolutely declined to proceed in orthodox fashion, in the first quarter giving a splendid imitation of a wooden rocking horse and in the second barely exceeding a walk, so that he finished winner in 3 53, narrowly missing being counted out for exceeding the time limit of four minutes set for the half mile.
This afternoon there will be another racing programme, and sufficient entries have been received to ensure really good sport. In one event Ripton, All Smoke, Doncaster and Southern Cross will meet; and at least two of the others will be well filled.

SINGERS OF SWEET SONGS.
The Swedish Ladies' Quartette Return to "The Victoria" for a Season.
The Victoria last evening echoed again to the charming music of the Swedish Ladies' Quartette. When this famous little organization was here a year or more ago its members sang themselves into the hearts of all who heard them. Their popularity remains undiminished, and last night's performance added to the number of their friends. The quartette is really good. It does not, it is true, contain any wonderful voices, but each member is in thorough sympathy with the music and the voices blend delightfully. Last evening's programme contained such attractive quartette numbers as Soderman's "Wedding March" (descriptive, Lamotte's "Breeze of Night" (waltz song), the Cuckoo song, and several Swedish peasant songs which were given in the picturesque costumes of the singers' Northern home. Saying that each and every one was enraptured, a second and even third recall being at times demanded, in a measure explains the nature of the reception accorded. Of the soloists, Miss Jennie Norrell has a clear bell-like soprano, and sings with charming vivacity; her aria from Les Huguenots (Myrberber) was delightful. Miss Emory Tourle is possessed of an exquisitely sweet alto, which she uses to good effect both in solo and concerted work. She was heard early in the evening in Durand's "As In Youth," afterwards singing Wrangle's "Lovely Spring" as a duet with Miss Norrell. Assisting the quartette, Mr. Le Rose appeared in a number of impersonations and character sketches, in several of which he succeeded in being very entertaining.
This afternoon the quartette will appear in a matinee entertainment at popular prices, and they are booked again for the evening. It is possible that for the evening the Lawrence Hanley Company will appear in conjunction, the concert programme being given instead of a prologue, with "The Player" following. Arrangements in this direction were in progress at a late hour last night; if they are successful playgoers are assured of a rich combination treat. If not the Quartette will appear with an entire change of programme.

A.O.U.W. BALL.
Opening of the Fine New Building Just Erected on Yates Street.
The A.O.U.W. opened their handsome new hall on Yates street last night with a grand ball, which was a real success both in point of attendance and by the perfection of the various details which go so far towards making an event of the kind enjoyable to the guests. The hall itself has been designed especially for assemblies and dances, the arrangement being very convenient and comfortable. The main room is lofty and cheerful, with a raised platform recessed at one end for the orchestra, and with galleries around two sides for spectators. At the far end are card rooms, while dressing rooms are conveniently placed close to the main entrance. The intention is to at once erect a fine supper room, capable of seating one hundred people, just alongside the assembly room. The supper last night was laid in the front lodge room, access to which is by the gallery of the assembly hall. There were a hundred couples present, and the scene from the galleries was very pretty. Nicely decorated with evergreens the hall, although not yet finished, looked remarkably handsome. Colored electric lights were ranged around the top of the orchestra platform, from which the Bantley family supplied delightful music for dancing. Among the guests were the Premier and a large number of other prominent people, many of them from Westminster and other parts of the province. At midnight an excellent supper was served in the front lodge room, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The gentlemen who had charge of the arrangements are to be congratulated on the happy inauguration of what is decidedly the finest assembly hall in the city. The committees are: Management—G. Leiser, R.

THE TUG-OF-WAR.
A Promising Feature of the Celebration Ends in Keen Disappointment.
The unfortunate difficulty night before last left the tug-of-war tournament in bad shape. Though the committee sat again yesterday and reviewed the case of the foul which gave the tug to the English team against the Canadians, they were unable to heal the breach and the row was still on last night. The oleasts were transferred to the grounds, railed off and lighted in good shape, but the ground was so sloping that the teams unanimously refused to take chances on drawing the upper hill side. The committee offered a special prize for a tug between the Canadian and English teams, hoping by this means to patch up the difficulty, but this was refused. Then the teams were peremptorily ordered up and given fifteen minutes limit to be present. The Scotch team took their places but no opponents appeared and the committee declared the Scotch entitled to first place. The synopsis of actual pulls stands:

	Pulled.	Won.	Lost.
Scotch.....	2	2	0
English.....	3	1	2
Canadian.....	3	1	2
Irish.....	3	1	2
Newfoundland.....	1	0	1

By an error the Irish team lost the credit of a win from the Newfoundland team night before last. The Irish won the contest in 5 1/2 minutes, and as the team has been laboring under many difficulties and yet responded in a sportsmanlike manner to all comers the correction is especially due to them. This evening tugs will be pulled between the Songhees and West Coast Indians. These teams competed in the afternoon and the Songhees won after a spirited struggle. Now the West Coast men are looking up "skookum slawh" and will try to turn the tables on their opponents this evening.
In the afternoon the school boys indulged in some informal tugs-of-war which were amusing if not exciting. Representatives of North Ward and Central schools ranging from 6 to 16 in age filled up the ropes and tugged right heartily. Amid the yells of hundreds of their companions the Central school won the tug. Time 6 minutes. Then scratch teams captured the rope and proceeded to have unlimited joy until it was carried away by a hard hearted committee man. An effort will be made by the committee to have an international contest this evening.

FRAGMENTS OF THE FAIR.
Little Incidents of Interest at the Grounds Yesterday.
Fully six thousand people attended the fair yesterday, including nearly three thousand children. Parents found it a hard task to keep up with the youngsters and many were the inquiries as to where "Johnny" or "Tommy" had disappeared to. Eventually the missing ones were found. One little girl about six years old giving her name as Hansen was found by Constable Hutchison of the provincial police sobbing bitterly because she was lost from her brothers. Mrs. Clay of the restaurant kindly took charge of her, and after a time the pacified youngster went off to hunt for her relative and evidently found them. Secretary Dallan was appealed to by a lady who had somehow passed out of the exhibition gate leaving her baby behind. The genial secretary sympathizing with a parent's anxious feelings provided a place for the grateful mother to recover her child.

Among the curious and interesting things to be seen in the main building are silk worm cocoons and spun silk, exhibited by Miss E. Saunders. They are next to the school exhibit in the upper floor. Chinese jewelry of strange design and a specimen of Korean paper are shown by Mr. C. F. Moore, who also has Chinese silks on view on the same floor.

A memento of the gentleman's cup race of 1892 is the pretty design made from the horse shoes worn in the race by Sorrel Dan, who beat Polly, the Queen's Plate winner. Mr. A. J. Dallan receives a highly commended for it. Arranged in the design are the father and four brothers of the Dallan family, all gentlemen riders.

The Aunt Sally man at the fair might with advantage be warned to be a little less coarse in the language he uses to attract the children to patronize him. His remarks yesterday were not exactly calculated to please parents who overheard him.

The New England hotel was the conspicuous building of Government street last evening, being brilliantly illuminated to the tip of the flagstaff, and looking prettier even than on the first day of the celebration.

The handsome original design for an exhibition diploma, painted and exhibited by Mr. Rene Quentin in the art department, has been generously presented to the agricultural association by the artist.

The Canadian team has challenged the English team to a tug of war for $250 a side. The challenge is receiving due consideration.

A stump-puller is exhibited by J. C. Coates in the agricultural department.

Yesterday forenoon the directors of the agricultural association gave their decision on the protest entered against Midgard, winner of the first prize for standard bred stallion. They sustained the award of the judges and dismissed the protest.
